MCF: Tax Day Ironies From Scott Walker

Today, Milwaukee County citizens and tax payers are finding out that their hard earned tax dollars are going to pay a generous contract to a private security agency that puts a convict in charge of security at the courthouse, the children's court center and other county buildings. The security supervisor had been convicted of numerous crimes stemming from when he was a police chief, subjecting his officers to inappropriate sexual comments and behaviors, being armed while intoxicated and other disorderly conducts.

Also today, it is being reported that Scott Walker is apparently trying to enforce some sort of cover up, as evidenced by Walker not even cooperating with open records requests from the local media or even the County Board in providing information regarding the corrective actions that he is taking after an audit found that a young woman was repeatedly sexually assaulted at the mental health complex.

"It's ironic that on today, Tax Day, Scott Walker is schmoozing to Tea Party attendees in Madison," said Chris Liebenthal, Chair, Milwaukee County First, "when there is so many problems with the way he is spending our tax money here in Milwaukee County."

"With all the debt and unpaid bills that Walker is saddling this generation of Milwaukee County tax payers and for generations to come," continued Liebenthal, "One would think that a responsible leader would be at his office trying to resolve these issues, find more fiscally responsible ways to maintain county assets and services, and promoting transparency in Milwaukee County government. Instead, he is no where to be found and is providing no solutions to the problems he helped create."
